Documation

API Integration

Documation offers standard APIs which can be used to support submission and requests for documents and/or data from your other business critical systems. In addition, our Web Services Connector (WSC) allows us to configure connections to the APIs available in your finance systems to support the transfer of data between your finance systems and other key business solutions.
Documation API

Documation's API integration enables API calling from any software with easy to follow templates for configuration by the Customer, allowing data and document submissions and requests to and from the Documation solution. Use cases include document upload, document data requests and more.
